Two Feat Hack(s) for all the players!

Feats are the, in my opinion, the most fun thing about D&D 5th Edition. I think players would like more feats to make play more unique and interesting.

The "X" Factor

I personally find that it's often annoying that you're spending most of your Ability Score Increases to pump your stats, and this prevents player characters from taking Feats, so this "Homebrew" intends to give you an option to have your characters abilities auto-advance along with their character level.

The X Array (and X/2 array)

Standard Array	X Array	X/2 Array
15	15	(X/2)
14	14	(X/2)
13	13	13
12	(X)	12
10	10	10
8	8	8

X (or X/2) by Character Level

X	X/2	Level
16	14	1
16	14	2
16	14	3
16	14	4
17	15	5
17	15	6
17	15	7
17	15	8
18	16	9
18	16	10
18	16	11
18	16	12
19	17	13
19	17	14
19	17	15
19	17	16
20	18	17
20	18	18
20	18	19
20	18	20

Even more Feats!

This one is easy!

- Give your players even more feats!
- Start everyone off with an extra feat at Level 1!
- Give your players another feat at every Proficiency Bonus increase!